Rev. Dr. William T. Merrill Performs Ceremony in Afternoon at Brick Presbyterian Church

Miss Millett To Be Wed

The Third Performance of "Forty Winks" Is Given for Orphaned Children

Miss Katharine Elliott Wheeler, who lived with her aunt, Miss Laura Wheeler, at 51 East Seventy-eighth Street, was married yesterday afternoon at the Brick Presbyterian Church to David Porter Hughes, son of Mrs. Francis R. Culbert, of this city. The ceremony was performed in the presence of relatives and a few intimate friends by the Rev. Dr. William T. Merrill. The bride, who walked alone, had only one attendant, Mrs. Charles E. Fynchon, of Chicago. Wayne Hughes, of Philadelphia, served as his brother's best man, and the ushers were Edgar Lockwood, John McMullin, George Hussey and Thomas Markman. Mr. and Mrs. Hughes will live at 51 East Seventy-eighth Street.

Mrs. Thalia Westcott Millett, of 114 East Sixty-third Street, and Donald C. Malcolm, of this city, took out a marriage license yesterday at the bureau in the Municipal Building. The wedding will take place January 21, and the ceremony will be performed by the Rev. William L. Sullivan. Mrs. Millett is a daughter of the late Robert E. Westcott. She divorced her husband, Stephen Caldwell Millett, in Paris some time ago. Mr. Malcolm is a prominent New Yorker and well known in banking circles.

N. H. Sabin, of Williamstown, Mass., announces the engagement of his daughter, Miss Ruth M. Sabin, to Karl E. Weston, also of Williamstown. Miss Sabin is well known in social circles in New York. Her father is a member of the Sons of the Revolution and of the Union League and other New York clubs. No date has been set for the wedding.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Helen Katherine Grant McGee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Henry McGee, of Dobbs Ferry, to John Aloysius Shanley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Shanley, of 32 Riverside Drive.

"Forty Winks," the musical fantasy given under the auspices of the Spence Alumnae Society Monday afternoon and evening, was repeated last night at the Hotel Plaza and brought out a large and fashionable audience. The performance was done with more finish than on the first day. As a result of the two-day entertainment a large sum has been raised for the benefit of the society's charitable work, which consists in the maintenance of a home for babies at 232 East Sixty-second Street, where eight or more babies are cared for continuously until placed in good homes. The babies are not "crippled," however, as erroneously stated in yesterday's Tribune, when "orphaned" was meant, but are all in good physical condition.

Miss Marjorie A. Curtis, daughter of the late Dr. H. Holbrook Curtis, will be married to Thomas L. Chadbourne Saturday at the home of Mrs. Curtis, 600 Madison Avenue. Only members of the two families will be present at the ceremony. Mr. Chadbourne and his bride will go to Florida to remain until the end of March.

Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt 2d will give a dinner to-night at her home, 666 Fifth Avenue, for her daughter, Miss Ruth Vanderbilt. It will be followed by a dance which will be attended by about 200 additional guests.

Owen Mason, Lawrence Copley Thaw and Howard Major will give a small dance to-night at 270 Park Avenue.

Miss Adelaide Kip Rhineland gave a luncheon yesterday at Delmonico's.

The Thursday Evening Club will meet January 20 at the home of Mrs. William Bayard Cutting, 24 East Seventy-second Street. There will be music by a choir from the Schola Cantorum.

Miss Lillian F. Robertson, daughter of Mrs. Henry Montague Robertson, of Loch Meir, Little Silver, N. J., will give a dance January 22 at the Hotel Plaza for Miss Virginia and Miss Constantine Meert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. William Meert, of Nyack, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Olin Potter Geer, of 36 Washington Square, are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter.

Bronze of Napoleon Death Mask Among Art Objects on Sale

Souvenirs of First Empire and Household Treasures of Early American Craftsmen in Bartlett Exhibit

The objects now on view at the American Art Galleries, to be sold there on the afternoons of January 13, 14 and 15, form one of those engaging collections in which we see reflected the play of a genuine enthusiasm. They were brought together by the late Mrs. Franklin Bartlett, of this city, and it is obvious that she took time to find them, picking up little by little the things that gratified a special taste. That taste was based on highly intelligent acquaintance with the work of early American craftsmen.

There is some good old American furniture in the show and some interesting pieces of English and Continental origin also displayed. We have marked particularly the various handsome mirrors. The early American example in mahogany (No. 663) is catalogued as imperfect; but as it stands it is a beautiful and desirable thing. There are two fine mahogany mirrors of the same period (Nos. 642 and 649), and with these we would associate the carved and gilded convex mirror (No. 634), which comes down from a Georgian workshop. This last, by the way, is an old family possession, originally imported by Mrs. Bartlett's people. In this it is characteristic of much that is most interesting in the collection.

There is a striking group of objects bought at the Joseph Bonaparte sale at Bordentown in 1845. Conspicuous in it is a bronze of the famous death mask of Napoleon made by Dr. Antonmarchi. The little bust of the Emperor (No. 432), also from Bordentown, is clearly of special value for the association of the artist with the subject. There are divers other charming souvenirs of the First Empire, candlesticks, clocks, and so on, especially clocks, and we think that these items should provide spirited competition at the sale. There is, in the collection of about seven hundred pieces a great deal to attract the amateur—beautiful early American and Georgian silver, old watches, snuff boxes and fans, and a notable body of blue and white historical plates and platters. The first impression received in a survey of the various rooms is one of the artist's hand. The objects are of the highest quality, the quality of household treasures which grow old but are never new.

There Comes a Time To All of Us

EVEN to the strongest and most vigorous, there comes a time when we tire a little earlier in the race. When an hour less of sleep seems to disturb us more next day than it used to. Perfectly natural, you'll say. But you can keep your punch if you'll try. Eat right. Avoid the one-sided foods that require more energy to digest than they give in return. Eat good milk. It slips into the tissues so easily. It makes good red blood at such a low cost. It is translated into energy quicker than anything you buy.

A well ordered diet, a properly fed stomach, insures the payment of everything that nature owes you. Nature plays fair if given a chance.
